

SUNPOWER SENDS THESE ANTS PACKING!

By NOLUVUYO MKHETHO
THE frightening sound of ants on the march will make the toughest guy hide his head in fear!

But SunPower is shining on a family that has been living under the rule of ants...

And Joyce Lethola (54) from Mangaung in Rocklands is smiling again!

After the People's Paper told Joyce's story, the South African Pest Control Association saw the article and jumped in to help the family to destroy the pests.

Joyce was surprised when people arrived at her house and told her they were there to get rid of the ants.

"When the team arrived the ants disappeared as if they knew the people were there to get them," she said. "We waited outside for about five hours while the team did their job inside."

The team injected the foundation of her house with chemicals to keep the ants away for five years.

Association spokeswoman Marelize Labuschagne said she sent the Africa Pest Prevention Company from Bloemfontein to treat the house.

Marelize advised people they cannot buy the chemicals themselves because only SABS-approved companies can get the right stuff.

Joyce is happy that Daily Sun helped her family.

Joyce Lethola is happy that her house is free from ants. Photo by Dan Xosha

Daily Sun
8 April

